Italian troops yesterday advanced their front line in the region of Col La Priole, the War Office also announced. In the Monte Grappa region the Italians gained further ground northward of Massik on Saturday. Eight enemy airplanes were destroyed yesterday.

Spain Now Realizes Error of Its Pro-German Policy

Pickpocket Helps to Reveal the Machinations of the Teuton Espionage System in Country.

By the Associated Press.

BARCELONA, Spain, July 8.—Signs are not wanting in a certain section of the Spanish press of uneasiness as to what the verdict of history may be on Spain's attitude during the war. In spite of a constant deluge of false information throughout the country by means of subsidized newspapers, and in spite of the undoubted pro-German sentiment of the army and a similar sentiment in other influential quarters, the indications are that events are slowly bringing home to the average Spaniard a sense of doubt as to whether his country's interests would, after all, not have been better served by a neutrality frankly friendly to the allies.

The machinations of the German espionage system in several instances have been glaringly exposed. One of the Madrid daily papers, although it has several times been suppressed by the military censorship, has succeeded in bringing to light activities by the German embassy in connection with the labor troubles in Spain last year, while, within the last few weeks, one of the chiefs of the Barcelona police was accused of being in league with the German Consulate Spy Bureau for the purpose of assisting submarines along the coast.

It is currently reported that the discovery of the police official's complicity was made by an expert pickpocket who, in his professional activities, came into possession of a pocketbook containing several compromising communications signed by the official in question. The thief at once recognized the value of the documents and sold them to the editor of a Socialist newspaper, who lost no time in publishing them and in bringing grave charges against the police official.

After some delay the police official was arrested and the judicial authorities are investigating.

The splendid achievement of the United States in sending an army of a million men across the Atlantic in so short a time and the mettle which that army has already shown have not been lost on the people here, who at first were inclined to belittle the American effort.

79 BODIES TAKEN FROM WRECK OF COLUMBIA

Federal Inspectors From St. Louis Question Survivors and Members of Crew.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., July 8.—Seventy-nine bodies have been recovered from the wreckage of the steamer Columbia.

A Federal investigation of the sinking of the steamer is under way. United States Inspectors Reese V. Downs and George R. Bower of St. Louis were at the scene Saturday and questioned survivors and later summoned before them the members of the crew of the boat.

"These investigations," said Capt. Mehl of the Columbia, "will show that the steamer Columbia had been properly inspected. They will bring out the fact that we were running under a slow bell, taking every possible precaution; that Tom Williams, who was in the pilot house, was alone as the law required; that he is one of the best pilots of Western rivers and that he is a teetotaler. We will present the facts that we have never sold whisky on board the Columbia, that the crew was not only on the job, but that I believe every man of them was a hero in sticking to his post and doing everything possible under stress of the fearful accident."

Three bodies recovered this morning brought the total recovered up to 79. Coroner Clary said that 14 persons still were missing.

The belief that something was wrong with the Columbia several hours before she sank was expressed by William Tinney of Pekin, who, with his wife, was one of the survivors today.

"I and my wife were on the boat with Mr. and Mrs. George Hines," said Tinney. "Mr. Hines is an old river man, and on the trip up the river from Pekin he noticed that the boat was drawing too much water, indicating, in his opinion, that she was slowly sinking. He wanted us to get off then, but we did not think there was any immediate danger, and prevailed upon him to remain on board until Peoria was reached. Hines went down to the engine room to tell the engineer his suspicions, and he says the engineer admitted it looked like something was wrong. So far as I know, however, no attempt was made to ascertain the cause. When we reached Peoria, Mr. and Mrs. Hines refused to make the return trip on the boat. I and my wife took a chance. We got out of the death trap, but not before my wife had been severely bruised and we had a narrow escape from perishing."

"From my experience with boats on rivers," Hines said, "I was convinced that the Columbia Friday night was drawing too much water. I talked to the fireman about it, but he was a new man and did not seem to know much. He told me the former fireman had quit just before the excursion was taken out, but for what reason he did not know. When we reached Peoria my wife and I got off and remained there. I didn't want to risk going back on the boat."

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday, July 7.—Henry Johnson and Robert Robinson, colored soldiers from New York, have been cited for bravery while fighting with their unit in a sector of the French front.

Leaders Along Murman Coast Appeal for Protection.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Leaders among the people of the Murman coast recently appealed to the American and allied consuls at Kola for protection. German troops are reported to the southward on the railroad leading to the Arctic at Kola, and failure of the Bolshevik Government to resist the penetration of the enemy has led the inhabitants to adopt their own measures of defense.

With American, British and French naval forces guarding a large store of war supplies at Kola and along the railroad, the Murman coast is one of the possible fields for operations by the allies in the Arctic until the new policy toward Russia, believed to have been approved by President Wilson at the White House conference, is put into effect. Just what form of activities will follow under the new program, however, is not stated.

In the absence of any word from Ambassador Francis since June 24, the State Department has been obliged to rely upon the most indirect and unsatisfactory reports of what is going on in Russia.

Bolsheviks Regret Murder of the German Envoy.

By the Associated Press.

BASSEL, July 8.—Nikolai Lenin, Bolshevik Premier, has sent the following message to M. Joffe, Russian Minister at Berlin, regarding the assassination of Count von Mirbach, the German Ambassador at Moscow:

"Two unknown men entered the German embassy at 2 o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon, having documents from a special committee. They threw a bomb in the Count von Mirbach's office, wounding him so severely that he died."

"Representatives of the Government immediately visited the embassy and expressed indignation at the act, which they considered as a political maneuver to provoke trouble. The Government is taking every measure to discover the murderers and bring them before a special revolutionary tribunal."

Outbreak in Connection With Assassination of German Ambassador Reported by Berlin News Bureau.

TROUBLE IS QUELLED, BOLSHEVIKI DECLARE

Murman Coast People Declared to Have Broken With Russia and Joined the Entente Forces.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 8.—A serious counter-revolution has broken out in Moscow, according to a semi-official Wolff Bureau telegram dated on Sunday from Moscow and transmitted to London by the Exchange Telegraph Co.'s correspondent at Copenhagen. "Fighting is reported in the streets between the Bolshevik troops and social revolutionaries."

A message received in London today from the Russian wireless service, dated Sunday evening at Moscow, says that a counter-revolution was started in the Russian capital, but that it has been suppressed.

Several hundred Russians, including the social revolutionary leader, Alexander Vitch, have been arrested in Moscow.

As soon as Emperor William heard of the assassination of Count von Mirbach, the German Ambassador to Russia, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch, he ordered Secretary von Kuehlmann to break off negotiations with the delegates in Berlin.

A strong guard has been placed before the house of the Bolshevik Ambassador in Berlin, as it is feared the populace of the capital will inaugurate anti-Russian demonstrations.

All the German newspapers declare the murder of Count von Mirbach must inevitably have a great influence on Russo-German relations.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, July 8.—The entire population of the Murman Coast (on the Kola peninsula, bordering the White Sea and the Arctic) has broken with Russia and joined the entente, according to advices from Vardoe, Norway, to the Christiania Tidens Tegn.

A supply of provisions from the United States has arrived at Murmansk, the dispatch adds.

PROHIBITION AND WATER POWER MEASURES BEFORE CONGRESS

House and Senate Abandon Hopes of Summer Vacation and Again Go Down to Work.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—National prohibition as a war emergency measure and water-power legislation urged by the administration were before Congress when it went back to work today, with all hopes of an extended summer vacation abandoned.

The prohibition issue came up in the Senate with the $11,000,000 emergency agricultural appropriation bill, which had the right of way under a motion adopted by the Senate Saturday night before the House unexpectedly blocked the recess plans. Leaders expected a bitter fight, but as many Senators were out of town, an early vote was not expected.

Legislation to prohibit the sale of distilled liquor, wine and beer after Jan. 1, 1919, and to prohibit the manufacture of wine and beer after Nov. 1 next, was agreed upon today by the Senate Agricultural Committee. The legislation is proposed as a substitute for the pending Norris amendment for the emergency agricultural appropriation bill, which would stop the sale of distilled liquor and wine on June 30, 1919, and prohibit the manufacture of beer three months after the latter date.

Provision for the exportation of liquors already produced was considered by the committee and probably will be reported in some form before the Senate acts on the amendment.

POST-DISPATCH IS SOURCE OF MANY RIOT REPORT FACTS

Locke Tarlton, Head of East Side Levee Board, Excoriated in Findings of Congressional Committee.

OTHERS ARE NAMED BY THE INVESTIGATORS

Jerry Sullivan, Alexander Flannigan and Mayor Mollman Scored Along With Tarlton.

More than half of the 60-page report submitted and read in Congress Saturday by Chairman Johnson of the special committee which investigated conditions in East St. Louis during and leading up to the July race riots, proved to be a recital of events and conditions investigated and printed by the Post-Dispatch, in most instances exclusively, during the last four years.

In several instances the report refers to cases by quoting from the Post-Dispatch files, and many others by quoting the testimony given at the hearings by a Post-Dispatch reporter.

Some Instances Cited.

Chief among these disclosures were:

Wholesale gambling and commercialized vice under the Mollman administration.

Tax reductions of big corporations by the Board of Review in 1915, and consequent increase in assessments of small taxpayers.

Embezzlement of $42,000 of school funds by School Treasurer Stephen Lepage.

Levee Board activities that benefited property owned by President Locke Tarlton and his political friends.

Connection between the Levee Board and the Illinois State Bank, where, a witness testified, millions of dollars of public money was deposited without interest.

"Lining up" of negro gamblers and dive keepers for Mayor Mollman by State's Attorney Schaumleffel in the municipal election of 1917.

The Congressional Committee is composed of Chairman Johnson of Kentucky; Congressman Baker of California; and Congressman Foster of Illinois, Democrats, and Congressman Cooper of Wisconsin and Congressman Foss of Illinois, Republicans. Excerpts from the report in which the committee censures several individuals follow:

"Much of the energy, some of the brains and nearly all of the audacity of the gang that in recent years has held East St. Louis in its merciless grasp, were centered in Locke Tarlton, president of the East Side Levee Board," the committee reported. "It was his cunning mind that helped devise the schemes by which he and his associates were enriched. It was his practiced hand that carried them out. He made Mayor Mollman believe he was his creator; that he had elevated him to high station and that his blind obedience to orders would mean rich political rewards in the future."

"As president of the Levee Board, Tarlton deposited millions in a local bank and exacted no interest from it. The taxpayers suffered while the bank lent the money and pocketed the proceeds. In further proof of the close relationship that existed between the Levee Board and the bank, Thomas Gillespie, brother of the bank's president, was elected attorney for the Levee Board."

"Always Kept His Word."

"Locke Tarlton knew how to handle the negro vote. He had an unanswerable argument to use with 'fixers.' He told them for whom he wanted them to vote; agreed on the price they were to get for casting their ballots, or rather having them marked for them by corrupt election officers, and always paid them promptly. Locke Tarlton was a man of honor when dealing with crooked voters. He always kept his word; he was sure pay. One of the picturesquely sights in East St. Louis was to see Locke Tarlton with a stack of $5 bills in his hands publicly paying the negroes who helped him win an election."

"Locke Tarlton was aided in his work by Tom Canavan, Superintendent of Public Improvements. They were partners in many enterprises. Their desire ran along the same lines; their minds met in countless devious

Post-Dispatch Reporter Thanked by Committee for Invaluable Service

THE report of the congressional riot investigating committee has the following to say of Paul Y. Anderson, a Post-Dispatch reporter, whose testimony before the committee on scenes he witnessed during the riot and on events and conditions leading up to it, occupied almost a week:

"Paul Y. Anderson, reporter for the Post-Dispatch, and for the past three years assigned to duty in East St. Louis, was an inexhaustible mine of valuable information."

"In serving his newspaper fearlessly, he rendered the public a more important service by laying bare the story of faithless officials who could not be lashed, even by exposure, to do their duty. He personally laid before the Mayor positive evidence of the guilt and incompetence of his police force, and demanded that he should close the gambling houses and unlicensed saloons."

"His investigations, opposed on every hand, were thorough and trustworthy. He saw everything; reported what he saw without fear of consequences; defied the indignant officials whom he convicted of criminal neglect of duty; ran a daily risk of assassination, and rendered an invaluable public service by his exposure. His testimony before the committee was most interesting and illuminating, his harrowing experiences before and during the riot throwing a flood of light on conditions as they existed."

"The facts related by him were of great assistance to us in our investigation, and the thanks of the committee are due him for an inestimable service, generously rendered."

DOWLING ON TRIAL FOR GERMAN PLOT

Prosecutor Tells How Corporal Was Discovered When He Tried to Land in Ireland.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, July 8.—The trial by courtmartial opened here today of Corp. Joseph Dowling, who landed on the Irish coast in a German collapsible boat two months ago, and since then has been a prisoner in the Tower of London.

Corp. Dowling, in civilian clothes, was brought to the court in an ambulance, handcuffed to a British soldier and accompanied by a non-commissioned officer armed with a revolver.

Corp. Dowling pleaded not guilty to the formal charges which are under three heads: First, that while he was a prisoner or war in Germany he joined a hostile force; second, that he endeavored to induce others to join; third, that he participated in an attempt to land a hostile force in Ireland.

Sir Archibald Bodkin, the prosecutor, described at great length the German plot launched at the end of 1914 for the formation of an "Irish brigade" from among the Irish taken prisoners on the British front. The scheme, Sir Archibald said, was repudiated by most of the prisoners but Dowling and a few others joined the brigade and acted as recruiting agents.

The prosecutor described the means used by the Germans to induce Irishmen to join, and in particular the German promises to them, reading: "At the end of the war the German Government undertakes to send every member of the Irish brigade to the United States."

Sir Archibald Bodkin read a long document, issued by the Germans at Limburg Camp, which said: "The Irish in America are collecting money for this brigade. Join the new unit and win your independence. The Irish brigade is to fight solely for the cause of Ireland with the moral and material assistance of the German Government."

The story told by Prosecutor Bodkin of the arrival of Corporal Dowling in Ireland follows:

"On April 12, fishermen going out from a harbor on the Clare coast saw a man waving a handkerchief on an island half a mile from shore. He said he had been washed ashore from the torpedo ship Mississippi during the night. He paid the fishermen five shillings to land him at Ballyhane Pier where he gave his name as James O'Brien and described the torpedoing of the Mississippi with great detail, stating that the ship came from Baltimore."

"Later in the day his collapsible boat of undoubted German manufacture was washed ashore. Dowling had 70 pounds of English money. He said he had come from the United States to see Irish friends before joining the American army."

Used cars and auto accessories are being sold through Post-Dispatch Wants.

PLOTTED TO ROB CARRIERS OF PETITIONS

Circuit Attorney Reveals Special Agent's Story of an Earlier Plan to Prevent Referendum Election, Which, He Says, Superintendent Also Directed.

JACKSON GOT $15,000 TO $20,000 A YEAR

Worked Nine Years for the United Railways, According to Story Given Out, Chief Duty Being to Prevent Formation of Union.

Julius C. Jackson, United Railways special agent, who executed the theft of petitions for a referendum on the United Railways franchise ordinance, has declared to Circuit Attorney McDaniel, that official said today, that he was ordered by Bruce Cameron, superintendent of transportation of the United Railways Co., to "blow the safe" and get the petitions. He opened the safe in Cigar Makers' Union Headquarters, 615 Chestnut street, with the aid of two mechanics, and took the petitions, early in the morning of June 15.

The Circuit Attorney's announcement today was another of the piecemeal disclosures of Jackson's story which he has been issuing since Jackson returned to St. Louis Friday. In it he told of an earlier plan to defeat the referendum by slugging and robbing the men who carried the first (2 per cent) petitions to the Election Board office, where they had to be filed no later than May 9. This plan failed, Jackson also related, the Circuit Attorney said, that he was directed in the slugging plot by Cameron. He further told of his nine years' work for the company, his chief duty being to prevent the formation of a labor union among the employees.

McDaniel's statement today was: "Jackson tells me that he was employed for nine years as a special agent of the company, having been engaged by the late Capt. Robert McCulloch, and that he worked, as he puts it, on his own capital. That is, he did not receive a salary, and he does not think his name was on the payroll. Instead, he submitted expense accounts, which were paid, and he says the payments to him were usually $15,000 to $20,000 a year."

Used Hams as Gifts.

"His work, he says, was chiefly to prevent the organization of a street car men's union. When movements were started in this direction, he had to meet them with measures of intimidation or bribery. He posed as a meat inspector from the East side stockyards, and he used to buy hams and put them on his expense account, he says, using the hams as gifts to men he wished to influence. Jackson said he came here from Denver, where he had taken a course of training in detective work. He has denied to me that he had anything to do with legislative work for the company, or with work relating to cases pending in court." (This refers to reports that Jackson has approached members of legislative bodies, and had acted as a witness-fixer.)

"Jackson declared to me that he worked under Sup't. Cameron, and that Edwin Corley, clerk in Cameron's office, had a key to Jackson's room at 1074 A Pine street and used to visit him there. He said he had frequent conferences with Cameron himself."

"Early in April, Jackson said, Cameron told him that he must see to it that the preliminary referendum petitions, containing the signatures of 2 per cent of the registered voters, should not be filed. If the filing of these petitions had been prevented, further steps toward a referendum would not have been possible under the charter. May 9 was the last day for filing the 2 per cent petitions."

"Jackson said Cameron hired five men to help him, and told him to pay them and charge it up on his account. Jackson said he paid them $50 each, to watch the men who were to take the petitions to the city hall, and to slug them and take the petitions away from them."

"Bosched the Job."

"Jackson said he couldn't find out just when the petitions were going to be filed, but Cameron thought the men who had them in charge would wait until the last filing day. Instead, the petitions were filed May 1, and

He is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters.

"An employer who attempts to take advantage of his men to fill his own pockets without bettering their condition, in a time like this, is as guilty as the German Kaiser," declared John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, in a speech at the monthly meeting of the American Alliance for Labor and Democracy, at 2228 Olive street, yesterday.

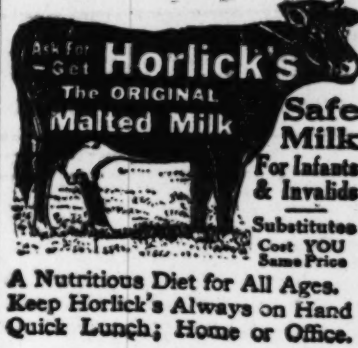

Mrs. Callie Holmes, 70 years old, wife of William Holmes of 4227A Easton avenue, attempted yesterday evening to jump from the west span of the free bridge, but was caught by a policeman and sent to city hospital.

Miss Ogle Pitt, 19 years old, of Kilhele, Miss., a school teacher, yesterday swallowed a corn remedy by mistake for headache medicine at the home of Paul Movet, 1900 La Salle street, where she was visiting relatives. She is in a serious condition at city hospital.

Meinhardt Kolbner of 3027 Locust street was driving west on Delmar boulevard, between Grand and Spring avenues, at 10:15 o'clock last night, when two men in another machine, going in the same direction, quarreled with him for crowding them. One of them jumped on his running board, seized his wheel and steered his machine into a tree. They drove away.

WILFLEY REPLIES TO ATTACKS BY FOLK

Asks for Explanation of "Those of Us" Expression of Former Governor.

United States Senator Wilfley yesterday issued a statement in reply to recent utterances of former Gov. Joseph W. Folk, who is opposing Wilfley for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

Wilfley, who has been attacked by Folk for signing a peace telegram, sent to President Wilson less than a month before the United States entered the war, quotes in his reply a remark which he says Folk made in a speech in Memphis, Aug. 21 last. In this address, delivered after the United States had been in the war four months and a half, he quotes Folk as saying:

"As events followed events, and the frightfulness of the German military policy became more and more evident, those of us who sympathized with the German cause were little by little alienated."

Wilfley assumes that the expression "those of us" includes the speaker, and he asks Folk to explain "when he ceased to sympathize with Germany."

Atrocities Not Condoned.

Wilfley also asserts that, in signing the peace telegram, he was not thereby condoning the atrocities of which Germany had been guilty. He insists that he was only taking the position which, he says, was taken by President Wilson in his utterances of Feb. 24 and March 5, 1917, that war should be avoided if such avoidance was consistent with honor.

It was after the date of the telegram, March 8, he points out, that the President called an extra session of Congress, and that the "overt act" was committed which, Wilfley holds, made a declaration of war inevitable. This act was the sinking of three American vessels by submarines, March 17.

Resents Folk's Remark.

Wilfley shows resentment of Folk's remark that "if the Kaiser were to land at New York, he would greet Senator Wilfley and his fellow signers of the telegram as his henchmen." He says:

"If I were physically able I should not be here resenting the vicious attack which have been made upon me for the purpose of tearing down a reputation that comes from generations of patriotic ancestry and devoted personal service to my country. I would be in the trenches. From the declaration of war I have been engaged in war activities; although I have never heard of my opponent participating in any war activities until he became a candidate for the United States Senate. Now he is seeking to attack my record and my loyalty."

Wilfley does not repeat, in this statement, the explanation which he first made of the signing of the telegram, which was that he had not read it carefully. He does say, however, that he should not be held responsible for the names of the other signers, as his name was signed near the top. Folk, he says, has tried to create the false impression that the petition was signed at a meeting of some sort.

W. U. TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE CALLED OFF FOR PRESENT

Secretary of Labor Wilson Announces That An Indefinite Postponement Has Been Arranged.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Indefinite postponement of the strike of telegraphers employed by the Western Union Telegraph Co., called to begin today, is announced by Secretary of Labor Wilson, who conferred over the telephone with S. J. Koenekamp, president of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union.

Secretary Wilson said that Koenekamp, who is in Chicago, had given him every assurance that the strike order would not be put into effect and that any walkout would be postponed indefinitely. It was understood that the union president agreed to this course because Congress now is considering a resolution authorizing the President to take over and operate, during the war, all telegraph, telephone, cable and radio systems.

In a final effort to avert the strike Wilson sent Koenekamp a telegram today urging delay and later called in Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who also sent a telegram urging postponement of the strike.

Western Union Employees Here Form Organization to Deal With Company.

Employees of the Western Union here recently formed an organization to deal with the company in matters of wages, conditions of employment, sick benefits, pensions, life insurance, etc. An election was held June 28 and B. E. Black was elected to attend a meeting in Chicago next Wednesday. F. A. Mohr, manager at St. Louis, says all the employees have signed their intention of joining the organization.

Black, in reply to a message of President Newcomb Carlton to all employees, calling upon them to show their loyalty to the country by continuing at their posts of duty, has assured him that the employees of the St. Louis office will keep up the continuity of the telegraph service.

FALL THROUGH TRELLIS FATAL

St. Louis Man Killed on Katy Tracks
in St. Charles County.

Emil Krutzmann, 43 years old, 2322 Chatham avenue, was killed early yesterday morning in a 35-foot fall through an M. & T. trestle near what is known as the Finney clubhouse, St. Charles County.
With companions, Krutzmann had alighted from a train to go to the club for a day's fishing. Retracing their way across the trestle, Krutzmann fell through an open space left by workmen who had been replacing ties on the trestle. His head struck a rock in shallow water in Osage Creek, his neck being broken.
The body was brought to St.
Louis.

J. J. HANNERTY, SUGGESTER OF IDEAS, DIES IN NEW YORK

Former St. Louisan, on His Death-Bed, Composes a Poem as His Last Prayer.

NEW YORK, July 7.—James J.
Hannerty, poet and suggester of ideas to writers and others, died yesterday in the Presbyterian Hospital, where he had been for several weeks suffering from a complication of illness. In his last moments he composed a poem, which he said was his last prayer and epitaph combined. It ran:
"O, whatever labor, Lord,
Thou hast created me,
I question not Thy labor, Lord,
But leave my soul to Thee.
Thou, as I've dealt with others, Lord,
So deal with would I be.
If I've been just to others, Lord,
Then wilt be just to me."

Hannerty came to New York from St. Louis. He was 64 years old.
Funeral services will be held Wednesday and burial will be in St. Louis.

Kenosha Thursday. Expenses of the funeral will be defrayed by the sale of Liberty Bonds purchased by Han- nerty.

Hannerty was active as a publicity man and originator of advertising ideas in St. Louis about 15 years ago. His principal source of income was the suggestion of designs for display advertising cards to be put in retail store windows. These usually took the form of cartoons with catch lines or verses written by Hannerty. Every such device was conspicuously labeled "A Hannerty Idea." For a time he was connected with the management of the Century Theater here.

A Letter

"One of my neighbors, the mother of two small children, was growing so thin and tired-looking that I knew she needed the rich nourishment there is in Father John's Medicine so I gave her part of a bottle I had in the house. She used it and another bottle and now she is gaining weight steadily and is giving it to the children, too—because it is guaranteed free from alcohol and dangerous drugs."

THEDA BARA AT BEST IN PHILIPPINE DRAMA

Story Tells of Rivalry in Love Between a Native and an American Officer.

Theda Bara, the Fox star, who is inimitable in her chosen line of emotionalism, is the leading attraction at the Central Theater this week in "Under the Yoke," a drama by George Scarborough. The scene is laid in the Philippines at the time of the American occupation after the Spanish-American War.

Maria Valverde, daughter of a wealthy Spanish grandee who has settled in the Philippines, meets Capt.
Paul Winter of the American Army of occupation. The coquette falls passionately in love with Winter.
She scorns the advances of Diabolo Ramirez, an overseer on her father's large plantation.
Diabolo takes her refusal to accept his attentions with bad grace. His hot blood boils with rage and his heart blazes with revenge. He formulates an uprising among the most ignorant and savage of the natives, and succeeds in killing Maria's father. Then he makes the girl herself his captive.

Word of the revolt reaches the headquarters at Manila. Capt. Winter is sent with a detachment of troops to rescue her. The American soldiers, however, are ambushed and Winter is made prisoner.

Diabolo, hearing that other American reinforcements are coming, tries by threatening death to Winter and Maria, to learn from the Captain how many men are in the relief party. Winter refuses to tell, whereupon Maria, to save the man for whom she would go through flame, gives the information to Ramirez.

Diabolo then attempts to murder
the American officer, but Maria snatches the gun out of his hand.
Meantime, a force of United States artillery is on the way to the plantation. Diabolo is frantic at the prospect of being cheated out of his prey and he crushes Maria in his arms.

She is on the verge of physical collapse when the American guns begin to shell the great stone wall around the house.
Diabolo runs to the window and Maria frees Winter. While the place is still under bombardment, Diabolo and Winter engage in one of the fiercest fights ever screened.

The action mounts to a sensational climax when a shell from the American cannon sets the house afire and stuns both Diabolo and the gallant officer. The troops then enter the villa and carry Maria and her sweetheart to safety. As they depart, Maria impulsively bends down and kisses the man for whom she had staked her life.

BILL HART IS A SAILOR IN HIS NEWEST OFFERING

"Shark Monroe," at West End Lyric.
Is a Moving Drama of the Sea.

William S. Hart has shaken the alkali from his feet, packed his revolver holster in moth balls and embarked for the sea in his latest picture, "Shark Monroe," which began five days at the West End Lyric and Skydome yesterday. Hart pictures, aside from the dominance of steel leaping from hip like lightning, always have had a great appeal because of their setting, uniformly of majestic landscapes and interiors where detail is supreme.

If his gun feats are missing in "Shark Monroe," the settings have been increased in grandeur. Hart goes to sea as master of the fullrigged schooner Indiana, and half the action of the picture is on shipboard.

The other action is laid in Alaska in snow many feet deep, with dog teams weaving in and out of jack pines that climb the sides of mountains.
An Eastern youth, who has squandered the passage money of himself and his sister in whisky, is permitted, upon appeal of the sister, to work their passage aboard the Indiana. Even a thrilling rescue from the sea of the brother by Hart does not temper the hostility of brother and sister for Hart because of the menial shipboard tasks imposed on the brother. In Alaska, Hart rescues the girl from marriage to a villain, fights the brother and accepts a beating. Because of the seeming easy victory of the brother, the villain taunts Hart to battle and is killed by one blow of Hart's fist which catapults him many feet through the air. Of course, the brother is eventually won over to Hart and the girl capitulates.

Fatty Arbuckle makes his reappearance at the house in "Good-Night, Nurse," a comedy which he has made too broad to be of the cal-ber expected of him. The news weekly again features pictures of American troops in France and shows the recent review of American troops in Montreal.

OFFICIAL WAR PICTURES AT NEW GRAND CENTRAL

"Pershing's Crusaders" Tells Graphic
Story of Our Part in the Great Conflict.

"Pershing's Crusaders," a moving picture made under the direction of the Committee of Public Information, is the bill at the New Grand Central this week. It drew a good attendance at yesterday's showing.
This collection of pictures has no plot, but it tells a wonderful story of the achievements of the United States in the first year of its participation in the war. The pictures are arranged chronologically, so as to show each step in the material and military preparations.

New Delmar Theater Opens.

The formal opening of the New Delmar Theater, on Delmar boulevard and Aubert avenue, under new management, will take place this evening with an entirely new line of pictures, showing the latest photo plays and in addition the little favorite of the old Delmar Opera Company, Leotta, will sing several popular songs each evening. The price of admission has been changed to 13c and all children under 10 years of age accompanied by parents will be admitted free.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

America Helping the World.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The war may cost the United States one hundred billion dollars. But in dollars and cents it will be worth it. We are creating wealth, even today, as fast as we are spending, yet faster. Our annual crops have leaped from ten billion to twenty since 1914. If other lines have increased in the same proportion, from 30 to 40 billions have been added to our great annual income.

The war may cost us the lives of half a million of our dear brave sons, and any one of them is worth more than all the material wealth of all the combined allied countries. Placing such a value upon each life we give and even then the war will be worth more than it will cost. The good will, the heartfelt friendship of all the world for America and the opportunity this gives to help all the world is making her rich indeed. It is more blessed to give than to receive. We are giving, giving freely and the blessings are coming to us from all the nations of the world except the Central Powers, and even they trust and admire America, when they think of justice and fairness. Our brave boys are giving their lives in the interest of all the world.

How any man living in America can be disloyal under the policy and service we are rendering the world is hard for us to understand. As Earl of Derby thanks the United States for whipping England, all Germany will be thanking us in less than 10 years for whipping Germany.

With the spirit and purpose of the United States dominating in the great conflict the end will be a richer and better world. Richer in friendship and true affection, nation for nation, richer in a world brotherhood. Did not Jesus Christ give his life to make us all one, to unite us all into one brotherhood? Then if Christ's death was noble and glorious, is not the death of our boys upon the battle field for the freedom and brotherhood of the world grand and glorious?

As I think, my very soul is moved with the wish that I were young enough to go to the front and die, spill my last drop of blood in the great and glorious cause. Every male relative I have on earth, who are within the age are either in France, on their way to Berlin, or are training to go. I would feel ashamed and disgraced if this was not true.

Tax Assessments at Granite City.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In a recent issue of the Post-Dispatch "Maplewood" complains against a 35c school tax. Why, that is not a circumstance to what is going on over in Granite City. I know of one instance where a 20-foot vacant lot worth about $400, was assessed $37.07 for general and $16.97 special taxes. Another instance where a dilapidated shack that no insurance company would write a policy on, was assessed $115 general taxes. This last property brought $430 under the hammer later on.

Sunday Closing of Gasoline Stations.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to have some well-informed person advise me what is gained by the closing of all automobile accessory places, all garages and all gasoline stations, on Sundays, holidays and evenings.

I have asked many that I thought might know something about it and they all tell me the dealers have decided to conserve manpower and, therefore, have issued these orders. Is it not true that it will take more men to do a certain piece of work in six days than it will take to do it in seven days? Is it not true that they can finish the work with less men by increasing their working hours, and not by shortening them? Would it not be better to permit or order all automobile repair people to work as long as they can possibly get their help to work thereby do with one man for which they would now need two?

Is it not true that the Government wants gasoline to be used on account of the shortage of fuel oil? Fuel oil is made by the reduction of oil into its various components, and is approximately the last stage of reduction, and unless the gasoline is used up there will be no place to put such gasoline as may be produced by reducing to the fuel oil.

Is it not true that a good percentage of automobile owners will have to fill their machines on Saturday before 7 o'clock if they wish to go motoring on Sundays? Does this save any gasoline, or does it do anything but inconvenience and bother the much-legislated-against-and-taxed automobile?

AUTOMOBILE USER.

(The restrictions complained of have been put into effect by the motor trade here and in other cities to comply with recommendations of the War Board and to forestall any objections the Government may make to the use of gasoline for pleasure. Also to release skilled mechanics for war service. It is understood that emergency service will be provided for.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

GOING TO THE BOTTOM.

Circuit Attorney McDanel's statement that he is going to the bottom of the nasty mess uncovered in connection with the theft of referendum petitions in the interest of the United Railways is welcome news to the people of St. Louis.

The intimation from the Circuit Attorney's office that the crude, raw, villainous effort to block the will of the people by burglary is only the climax of a series of activities designed to control municipal action for the benefit of the United Railways is interesting. Every clew should be followed to the end.

Let us have first the whole truth about the burglary—who directed it, who was in the conspiracy to perpetrate the outrage and who had knowledge of the criminal conspiracy.

Through the agents who engineered the crime the Circuit Attorney should be able to reach the men higher up who directed and backed it. These higher-ups to the highest are the men to get and punish.

We are told that $2600 was paid for the burglary. How much money of the company, which has been pleading poverty and through its pleas has obtained an increase of fares from the State Public Service Commission, has been spent in criminal and corrupt activities to protect its accumulated plunder?

What was the nature of the bargain with the Kiel administration by which the "compromise" franchise was obtained? How much did it cost? How was the money expended?

The company is on trial. What will its board of directors do? Passing meaningless resolutions does not meet the case. Will it hinder or help in the investigation? Will it protect or uncover its rascals?

The State is interested in the investigation because the State Public Service Commission just before the burglary was committed granted an increase of fares to relieve the company's alleged distress.

The Federal Government is interested, because the Capital Issues Commission agreed to advance the money to meet bond obligations of the company.

What will the company do to clear itself of the imputation of connection with or connivance at crime committed in its interest?

What will the State do to clear its skirts of any taint of giving aid and comfort to criminal conspirators?

What will the Federal Government do to assure the public that it is not acting in concert with or giving support to men who spend or approve the spending of corporation money for criminal assaults upon the rights and interests of the people?

The people of St. Louis have a right to demand the thorough clearing up of the scandalous mess, which so vitally affects their rights, and the complete vindication of law and public morality in connection with it.

MORE FIGURES ON PROFITEERING.

No gains quite as high as some of those of the coal men were revealed in a supplementary Treasury report on profiteering. But not a few of our other fellow citizens were shown to be making a very comfortable thing out of it during these trying war days.

One liquor dealer netted only 152 per cent but he was far from being alert to all the possibilities of the whiskey corner created by congressional legislation. Another liquor dealer of better ability was able, by strict attention to business, to make it 1220 per cent. There must be many in the same line whose profits under extraordinary profit-taking conditions have approximated the same percentage. But it is the profits of the handlers of food and raiment necessities that are invested with the greatest public concern. One food dealer's profits were 2183 per cent. One cold storage house made 31 and another 472 per cent, all of which came out of the consumer in inflated prices. Dairying concerns made as much as 182 per cent, a figure to be remembered the next time a raise in the price of milk is attempted. Some clothing manufacturers made 191 per cent out of the woolen and cotton garments that now cost the public so dearly. If a further statement exposes the profits of the shoe men and especially the leather men, it ought to have interest. Or did the profiteering Beef Trust monopolize all the war gains in the price of hides?

The data are furnished as guide in framing the new tax bill, but supply a reason for new measures in the public's protection.

HOPELESS RUSSIAN LEADERS.

Signs of armed intervention in Russia, with or without American co-operation, are becoming numerous. And at this critical stage we look in vain for Russian leaders, with any considerable following, who could be used in an effort to rally the people in a new fight for representative government and a determined stand against German encroachment.

We are told that the Soviet is all powerful. It has its roots in the village council and its organization covers every branch of what we know as state and national government. But it appears to have settled down to the acceptance of such men as Lenin and Trotsky as its real executive heads in national and international affairs. And these two, with their Red Guard adherents, are engaged in an internecine war with a number of the old leaders of the revolution—socialists and so-called Socialists. The ammunition of the antis appears to be mostly vituperation. They openly denounce the Bolshevik leaders as murderers and traitors. Now and then the Lenin-Trotsky crowd replies with bullets.

Then we have such men as Bourtsch, former nihilist, who is now proclaiming Grand Duke Michael as tsar, coming leader, with Gen. Alexieff, Kaledines and Korniloff as a nucleus for a provisional, anti-Bolshevik Government. Bourtsch is quoted as saying that "such a government must stick at nothing in order to restore order and root out Bolshevism in every form." This sticking at nothing was a characteristic of both Czarism and nihilism in the old days and the Russian leaders don't seem to get away from it.

A BRILLIANT CAREER'S TRAGIC END.

John Purroy Mitchel would not have been 38 years old until the 19th of this month, much beyond the limit assigned for aviators. Still, it is not clear that the deplorable accident in which he met death at Lake Charles, La., was one from which a younger man would have been immune.

Into what American life of these times has been crowded more of brilliancy and usefulness? He had taken his collegiate and law degrees by 1901 and entered almost immediately on a public career. He was special counsel to the City of New York in 1906, Commissioner of Accounts in 1907-09 and then President of the Board of Aldermen and Acting Mayor for a time after Mayor Gaynor was wounded by Gallagher on Aug. 9, 1910.

President Wilson, soon after his inauguration in 1913, selected him as Collector of the Port of New York, and he had hardly undertaken the duties of this important office before he was made the nominee for Mayor of the city in one of the most remarkable political movements in New York history.

During four years of unusual events he was the head of the metropolis of the United States. If his name became associated in such degree with administrative efficiency and good government in that city of gigantic municipal wastes as to inspire his supporters with an excess of zeal for his continuance in office, good reason for it existed. It was an ironic turn that, known distinctively as the foe of great official abuses, he should have become the beneficiary of a campaign fund so swollen as to make its very size a scandal. But no widespread corruption was shown; rather extravagance in expenditure along conventional lines, and for the things most censured for illegality or questionable taste there is no evidence that he was responsible.

Great honors came to him in swift, almost bewildering succession. As the city's head he had set an example to New York young men by attendance on a Plattsburg camp and the election returns were hardly in before he volunteered for aviation service, glad that relief from civic duties gave him this great opportunity, and had already won distinction in training and a Major's commission.

That so fine a type of the young Americans of the new century should have been denied his chance at the front seems peculiarly tragic. His death is nevertheless as much a part of the inevitable cost contributing to victory as if it had occurred above the fields of Flanders.

VOLGA AND MISSISSIPPI.

In a report to the National Geographic Society W. T. Ellis describes a trip down Russia's great river, the Volga. He says:

Two thousand steamers regularly ply upon the Volga. Big barges in groups of five or six with half a dozen small boats clustered like barnacles behind, are towed by side-wheel tugs.

The Volga is called the Mississippi of the Slav empire. That may be true, but the Mississippi, from the viewpoint of commerce, is not the Volga of the American empire. How does it happen that this river of unprogressive Russia has retained 2000 vessels operating under their own power, with thousands of barges in addition, while the Mississippi has but a few score of craft of all kinds?

Manifestly the railroads of Darkest Russia are unsophisticated. They have failed to combine in effective policies for the destruction of river traffic and the increase of their own rates and tonnage and to persist in their ruinous course even in the face of imperative war necessities.

The "incessant procession of boat life" which renders the Volga so interesting and useful a stream must be restored on the Mississippi.

A DIVIDED GERMANY.

An Associated Press report from Amsterdam states that the German Independent Socialists have voted against the peace treaties with Rumania, and quotes Philip Scheidemann, majority Socialist leader in the Reichstag, as saying that his party could co-operate with the Government only if the peace question is clarified. Scheidemann backed up Von Kuehlmann in the assertion that "the greatest military victory, by itself, never will bring peace—only an armistice." Finally, for the first time since the opening of hostilities, the Socialist members of the Reichstag refused to vote the Government budget.

All this is highly significant. It means that Germany is divided against itself and that conditions are now such that the malcontents do not hesitate to speak out. George Ledebour, Social Democratic leader, is quoted as saying that "it is the duty of the German proletariat everywhere to issue a summons for a revolution."

For less outspoken words than these, Liebknecht and other German Socialists are in jail. Today the opposition to the military program appears to be so strong that Potsdam deems it wise to take no action against it.

AN IMPROBABLE PREDICTION.

That English war lecturer, who declared at Chicago a few months ago that the Fourth of July has been doomed as a national holiday by the progress of world events and that in 10 years from now it would cease to be celebrated in this country, did not speak with the gift of prophecy. If he was home among his own people during the past week, he must realize that the influence of world events on the anniversary is very different from what he thought. If, before the expiration of the first year in his predicted 10-year period, the observance of the day is magnified to so great extent in many foreign countries, including England, what may we expect at the end of the full period?

July 4 will never mean to any foreigners what it means to us, but we may believe that it is destined to have special recognition in all countries with political ideals similar to our own as a day of celebrity in the history of human progress.

THE NEWSPAPERS.

"EVERY newspaper we pick up tells us Austria is on her last legs," says Bre'r Martin of Life, who nevertheless warns us against taking too much stock in that assurance.

Of course, every newspaper we pick up does nothing of the kind. Upon the contrary, Bre'r Martin himself knows what he does know about it from reading the newspapers. The newspapers have from day to day warned him against attaching too much significance to news from Austria, much of which is without authentication and frankly admitted by the newspapers to be such. What, then, prompts a loose statement like this quoted above? Only that habit of mind and speech which prompts nine men in ten to speak in exactly this way of the newspapers, though usually owing to them every blessed thing they know or hope to know about the war.

The newspaper gives us the news from day to day as it is available. It does this at great peril to the fact, but it expects us to appreciate that risk. No one can do this better than Bre'r Martin. He can come within a hair's breadth of the truth while reading the newspaper. His judgment enables him to do that. Why, then, does he wallop the newspapers in any such fashion and say of them what he knows is not true? We can explain that, we think. We all have some of the popular prejudices of our time about us, and this thing of the newspapers being unreliable is one of them. If Bre'r Martin were so far detached from us as not to suffer at times from what pretty much afflicts us all, he would not know us as well as he does or be well able at times to express what is in our minds.

That is all there is to it.

The Kaiser's confidential clerk came in.

"I want you to arrange for deposits of money in the strongest banks of Denmark, Switzerland and Scandinavia," he said. "If I lose the war, which seems likely, I may have to leave here suddenly and not be able to take very much with me."

"I get you, sire," said the clerk, goose-stepping backward through the royal curtains.

The man who would be King of Poland if the dynasty were restored is now a railroad brakeman in this country. If he cares for our advice he will confine his immediate aspirations to hope of becoming a conductor.

Twelve hundred and eighty-four automobiles crossed the new St. Charles bridge on the Fourth, probably indicating why capital hesitated so long before the bridge was rebuilt.

The submarines seem to be coming back to the Atlantic coast for more of what we didn't give them the last time they were over.

The Americans have just walloped the Germans at Xivray, but nothing like they will when they get them down into Y and Z.

(The following adaptation of Casey Jones was made by L. H. Christian of Roylton, Ill., who is doing something for the common cause by working as fireman at a coal mine.)

I.

THERE was a farmer boy in Illinois Who wished to go to France with the boys, He went with his father to the field one day, and he says old man you can mow the hay.

CHORUS

I'm off with the boys to go get the Kaiser, I'm off with the boys don't you hear, I'm off with the boys to go get the Kaiser, We'll bring back his whiskers for a souvenir.

II.

Very well, go ahead my son, Go with the boys and get that Hum, I'll plow the corn, I'll mow the hay, You can come back home to your dad some day.

CHORUS

Go on with the boys, go get the Kaiser, Go on my son don't you fear, Go with the boys, go get the Kaiser, Bring back his whiskers for a souvenir.

III.

He went to tell his mother goodbye, He says dear mother, don't you cry, Oh, mother dear, don't weep for me, I'm going with the boys across the sea.

CHORUS

I'm off with the boys to go get the Kaiser, I'm off with the war, oh, mother dear, I'm off with the boys to go get the Kaiser, We'll bring back his whiskers for a souvenir.

IV.

We'll fight 'em under water, we'll fight 'em in the air, We'll fight 'em to a finish, everywhere, Come on boys if we'll only try, We'll be in Berlin by the Fourth of July.

CHORUS

Come on boys, let's go get the Kaiser, Come on boys, don't you fear, Come on boys, let's go get the Kaiser, And bring back his whiskers for a souvenir.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comments by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

ACTION AGAINST PROFITEERING.

From the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger
NOW we know why beef has gone to 50 and 60 cents a pound, bacon to 45 and 50 cents and lamb and pork prices twice what they were two years ago.

The revelations of the Federal Trade Commission, based on an investigation in which the packers were allowed to present their side of the case, are astounding. The five great packing companies have made a profit during the last three years of $121,000,000 in excess of their normal gains. The profit of Morris & Co. is reported as 263.7 per cent on its capital stock, whereas its normal profits have been 8.6 per cent. Armour & Co. increased its capital stock from $20,000,000 in 1910 to $100,000,000, with the result that its percentage of profit was reduced, but the five companies have earned less than 27 per cent and the profits have ranged from all of them except Morris & Co. up to 47 per cent.

On their face these statements of the commission justify the conclusion of the commission that "these packers have preyed upon the people unconscionably."

The commission is not content with charging exorbitant profits. It accuses the five packing companies and their subsidiaries with "manipulations of the market that embrace every device that was used to them without regard to law."

There is a prima facie case against them. Every householder knows that the price of meat have been and still are exorbitant. He has been told that the demand of the armies and the high cost of feed and labor have made it necessary to put up the price. And he has believed it. But the evidence from the books of the companies themselves that an excess profit of more than $120,000,000 has been made in the years, a profit amounting in the case of one company to more than 250 per cent, makes it impossible longer to accept the explanations.

The evidence as it stands is proof of unconscionable greed at a time when every patriotic citizen was expected to make sacrifices. There can be no justification for it in the minds of men not warped out of proper balance by the commercial spirit of the run mad.

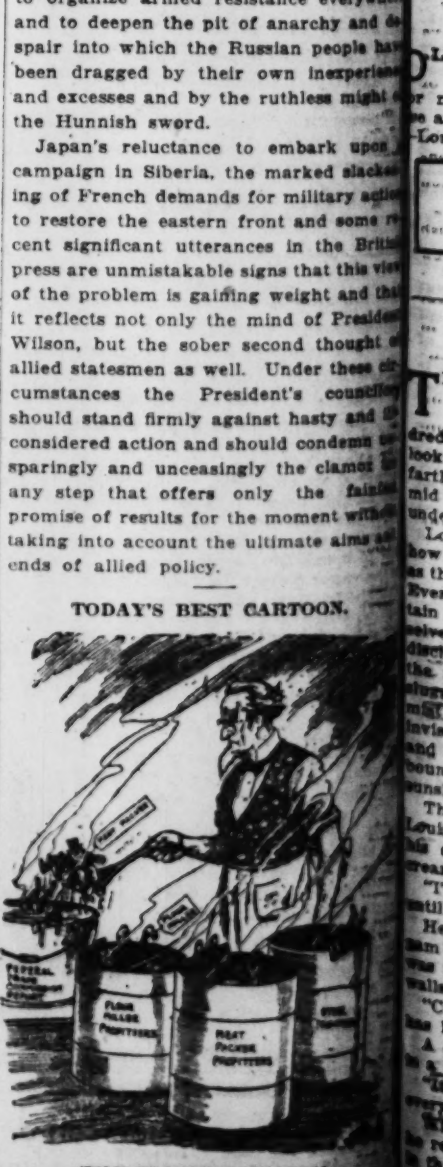

The nation will not be content until the Attorney-General has haled the accused into court and has presented the evidence gathered by the commission to a jury of householders and permitted them to find a verdict in accordance with the facts.

Russia's Supreme Need.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
RUSSIA'S supreme need now is help and guidance. It is idle to expect the her people, after their recent bitter experiences with treachery and oppression within and with the brutal aggressions of the bandage and slaughter that followed the Litovsk, will accept merely on faith promises and disinterested professions by any foreigner that comes with bayonets set to their rifles. It is certain that Trotsky and Lenin will strive to convince their followers of intervention—by whomsoever made—aimed primarily at them and that the real purpose will be the restoration of a regime with all its abuses, against which the revolution was directed. Once convinced that such is the real aim of military intervention, the effect would be to throw all Russia into the lap of Germany to organize armed resistance everywhere and to deepen the pit of anarchy and despair into which the Russian people have been dragged by their own inexperience and excesses and by the ruthless might of the Hunnish sword.

Japan's reluctance to embark upon a campaign in Siberia, the marked slackening of French demands for military aid to restore the eastern front and some recent significant utterances in the British press are unmistakable signs that the view of the problem is gaining weight and that it reflects not only the mind of President Wilson, but the sober second thought of allied statesmen as well. Under these circumstances the President's counsel should stand firmly against hasty and unconsidered action and should condemn sparingly and unceasingly the claims of any step that offers only the false promise of results for the moment without taking into account the ultimate aims and ends of allied policy.

WASHINGTON CLUB

Victory Yesterday Was Sixth
Straight for Locals on Griff-

SOTHORON IS IN FORM

Righthander Pitched One of His Best Games of Season, Permitting Three Hits.

When Allen Sotheron shut out the Nationals in Washington yesterday, 3-0, the Browns landed their sixth straight game over Clark Griffith's charges in the national capital this season. The record for the season between the pair is 8-2, 800 in favor of the Browns, the Senators having won two of the four played in St. Louis in June. In defeating Griffith's aggregation yesterday, the local American leaguers trimmed Walter Johnson.

In downing the Nationals yesterday, Sotheron pitched one of his best contests of the season, as he yielded only three safeties. It was his third straight conquest, and raised his mark for the season to 8-2. In the last 29 innings he has hurled he has permitted only three runs, June 28 he beat the White Sox with one run; July 3 the Indians scored twice and yesterday the Griffmen were blanked.

It was the second time that Walter Johnson started against the Browns and the second time that his mates failed to score. Johnson, who was 13, at Sportsman's Park, he opposed Bert Gallia, a former teammate, and was trimmed 2-0. Yesterday the fireball king yielded eight batters.

Manager Burke Over .500.

Since Jimmy Burke, the "Goose Hill" product, took charge of the Browns they have captured five games and lost five for a winning percentage of .583. Starting against the White Sox, the Browns dropped four out of six, they dropped three out of four to the Indians and now have landed two straight from Washington. As a result of this, the Browns are only two games behind a .500 percentage.

In yesterday's contest, the Browns started after Johnson in the second inning. Sotheron pitched to second and scored on Gedeon's safety. In the third, Sotheron opened with a hit, went to second on Maise's sacrifice after John had retired, and scored on Demmitt's safe drive. Jimmy Austin brought over the third run, in the ninth on his triple and clean exit of home.

Sotheron, on the other hand, was in hot water only once. That was in the eighth, when with one out Morahan singled and Pichin singled Johnson also singled, but Demmitt's throw to Nunnaker erased Morgan trying to score. Sotheron ended the inning by striking out Johnson.

Browns Score 38 Tallies.

In the 10 contests between the two sides this season, the Browns have scored a total of 38 runs against 27 for the Nationals. Four of the contests have been decided by one run with the Browns winning on three occasions. The Griffmen won from the Browns in St. Louis, June 10, 3-2, in 14 innings. The other National victory came on June 12, when six runs were tallied against Urban Shocker in the ninth inning. Bert Gallia, Sotheron and Tom Rogers have each won two games from the Griffmen this season, while Shocker and Davenport each own one victory. Sotheron and Sotheron have been the fingers beaten by the Nationals.

With today's game moved up to yesterday, the Browns and Nationals enjoy an open date this afternoon. The third game of the series will be played tomorrow with Dave Davenport or Wayne Wright opposing Jim Shaw on the hill.

MISS WESSELING AND LYNCH WIN FOURSOME

Miss Gertrude Wesseling and Frank Lynch defeated Jimmy Manion and Miss Ruth Altken in a foursome match over the Forest Park Golf Club's course yesterday.

The winners went out in 41, considered a remarkable score in a foursome, and came back in 46, giving them an 87. Manion and Miss Altken had a 50 going out and came back in 49.

Miss Wesseling stated this morning that she and Lynch were striving mightily for an 85, but required a 7 on the final hole, which only the day before, she had negotiated in 3.

Rogers Hornsby, Far Below 1917 Form, Is "Mystery Man" of Last Place Cards

Figures Show Shortstop's Failures Are Factors in Club's Loss of 161 Points From Standing of 1917.

A SIDE from the sundry and dival ways in which the Cardinals contrive to lose games with monotonous frequency, the most interesting thing at the National League Park these days is the spectacle of the fans "getting on" Rogers Hornsby, in the parlance of the national pastime. The former idol of Cardinal Field is slipping, perhaps not in the sense of baseball ability, for that's hard to believe, but in the thoughts of the populace who last season were strong in the belief that he was one of the best players who ever wore a St. Louis uniform.

This player's worth to any club was based on his batting average. That's why Hornsby was a great favorite here last season and that's why he unquestionably would remain a favorite, if it were not for the fact that "Pep" has failed and is falling miserably this season. The difference between the timely hits which mark the difference between victory and defeat.

Figures Show the Difference. To show that two athletes must be held largely responsible for the failure of the Cardinals to cut their expected swath in the flag race, the batting averages of today and a year ago were placed side by side with this result:

A year ago today Rogers Hornsby was hitting .311. Today he is hitting .278, a difference of .033 points.

Walter Cruise, at present batting .250, a year ago today had an average of .278.

Which may serve to place the onus of blame on the shoulders of Cruise, whose average has shrunk 129 points, whereas Hornsby's is only about a fourth of this number of

In winning their last eight games the Pittsburgh Pirates have scored 61 runs, an average of almost eight a game, against 28 for the opposition. The victorious streak of the Corsairs started against the Cardinals on June 30.

In yesterday's contest, the Pirates won the real feature in the major leagues, the Pittsburghers winning eight out of nine contests played, the lone defeat coming at the hands of the Cardinals yesterday a week ago, when Ames beat Steele, despite the fact that the latter yielded only one safety.

Cubs Lead by 6 Games.

The Cubs increased their lead in the National League marathon to six full games yesterday, when they captured the second game of the series from the Giants, 6-1. Phil Douglas held McGraw's men to five hits, the lone error being committed in the third, when the Bruins put over five markers. Anderson, who replaced him, pitched good ball. The men of the first round, the Cubs, won by a nine, while the Giants won only two and dropped five.

Mule Watson Finally Wins.

"Mule" Watson, the righthander formerly with the Cardinals, finally won a game for the Phillies yesterday, when after he replaced Pendergast, the men of Moran put over two runs in the ninth inning and won from the Reds, 4-3. At that Watson had to be replaced by Oeschger in the final round. The Reds won the game on the hill, won the opener, 5-2.

Yankees Are Slipping.

The Yankees of Miller Huggins slipped a bit in the American League race last week, when they won only three games of the eight played. The Boston Red Sox, who went back into first place, took four out of seven, and the Indians broke even in eight starts.

Silent THE POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE TO DOMINATE THE TOURNE

STOCK VALUES DECLINE SLIGHTLY AFTER FIRM OPENING IN NEW YORK RAILWAYS FOURS ARE LOWER IN TRADE HERE

U. S. Steel and Other Favorites Lose About One Point on Moderate Selling—Bonds Are Irregular.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Stocks reflected favorable foreign developments at the opening of the market today, and prices were firm to higher on most of the standard shares. Trading gave promise of a fairly active session. The weather map indicated favorable conditions over the crop belt.

When the directors of the Reading company, at their June meeting, decided not to take immediate steps to divide the railroad company from the coal properties, they by no means abandoned the idea. It is stated on authority that the reading directors have no definite plan now as to when the thing may be done. It is pointed out by the same authority, however, that Washington has set its heart up on a separation and that, therefore, it will ultimately come about.

Hearing of the Government suit against the Reading Company, suit in the Supreme Court has been postponed until the October term. When the Attorney-General asked for postponement last winter there were controlling reasons against introducing into railroad affairs factors which might tend to disturb effective operation or unsettle financial sentiment. With both operation and credit in the custody of the Government, the same reasons can hardly be said to exist today. It is probable that when the case is reached next fall counsel for the Reading companies will be found opposing further delay.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Oil shares led the opening of today's stock market. Petroleum and Texas Co. shares leading and American Sugar were fractionally higher, but representative industrial shares were irregular. Reactions occurred in the afternoon, but the market closed at a level not far from the opening.

United States Steel reflected continued pressure at an extreme decline of 1 1/2 points during the first hour of the session. Liberty bonds were steady.

Speculative issues yielded 1 to 2 points during the first hour of the session. Movement was irregular in the continued weakness of the market. Steel extended its loss to 2 1/2 points and all other industrial shares were lower. The setback of the first hour made further weakness in the afternoon. Shipments and resistance to the reversal which centered in the United States Steel reflected continued pressure at an extreme decline of 1 1/2 points during the first hour of the session. Liberty bonds were steady.
